projectors may be rented. Yerba Buena has one for $10 per usage, while individuals may have one they’re willing to rent to their club at a comparable price.

How to use them for our club competitions? One person would have to be in charge of collecting the images. A .jpg size of 1.2 megs is the minimum for sharp projection and these files should be emailed to the compiler. Projector shd. be set at sRGB for good color output. Epson’s 74c can be fine-tuned using the Dynamic setting, then resetting to sRGB.

Applications that will do the job are Apple’s iPhoto (you can move the slides around and blow them up for the judge to peruse on your laptop) after the commentary period. Also Powerpoint’s Slide View under “View” and other less expensive slide show programs for the PC. More logistics next issue.

LDC PROJECTION AGAIN

To recap: last month we talked about why we may be heading into digital projection at both the club and N4C level. The images from the burgeoning digital camera market can so easily and cheaply be displayed on the LCD projector, while those slide-makers who “improve” their images in Photoshop will also find this an ideal milieu for output.

Of course, the cost of acquisition of a decent projector is substantial (approx. $2000 for a 2000 lumen model) and replacement bulbs run about $400. However, the latter can easily last 2000 - 3000 hours, which spells out to 2 - 3 years at 20 hours usage a week. Alternatively,
